For Illinois residents, please be advised that it is your responsibility to apply for an IDNR Endangered & Threatened (E&T) Limited Possession Permit promptly upon acquiring this specimen. Failure to obtain the necessary permit may result in a violation of the Illinois Endangered Species Protection Act and could lead to citations or other legal consequences if questioned by an IDNR Conservation Police Officer.

Permit System Link: <https://dnr2.illinois.gov/ORCAApplicationReview/>

1. Click on the LIMITED POSSESSION/HOBBYIST Permit Application
2. Under the “species” drop-down menu, Polar bear can be found under the Federal Endangered Species section
3. Remember that when adding information to any of the Sections/Tables, please click on the Green Button to populate the table correctly. If you fail to do so, the permit application will be blank when received on my end and your application will be returned.
4. Please record your permit number for future reference and renewal purposes.
5. When finished, click on “Submit”
6. Permit applications may take between 30-45 days to process. You will receive an official permit via email.
7. Please note that all permits expire December 31 of each calendar year, and you must renew for the following year no later than January 31. Access the permit system and select: Permit Amendment/Permit Renewal. Renewal of your permit serves as your official Annual Report.
8. Also – each time, you renew or amend your E&T Permit, the computer will randomly assign you a new Permit #, so please be sure and record this new number for future reference.

For non-Illinois residents, please note it is your sole responsibility to contact your State’s Natural Resource Agency to determine if any permits and/or related documents are required to legally possess this specimen in your respective state. Failure to do so immediately after purchase could result in a criminal violation(s) as well as fines and potential legal fees.
